"We have here another of the London Annuals for 1844, and if they all have effected the same great improvement in beauty and worth, we shall have an array of gift books for the holidays, infinitely more magnificent than we have seen hitherto. The book is greatly enlarged, the amount of reading matter increased accordingly, the illustrations far more numerous and beautiful, and yet the price remains the same. It is edited by Lettch Ritchie and dedicated to the Queen Dowager. It contains ten splendid embellishments, besides twenty-five illustrations on wood, all executed in the most elegant style. Its contents are made up of prose and and poetry from the pens of some of the most gifted writers in England, of whom we name only Barry Cornwall, Mrs. S. C. Hall, R. S. Mackenzie, Mrs. C. Baron Wilson, Miss M. A. Browne, (now Mrs. James Gray.) Mrs. Godwin, and a great number of others equally distinguished. It is one of the most beautiful drawing-room books of the season. SEARS' NEW AND COMPLETE HIS-TORY OF THE HOLY BIBLE.

TORY OF THE HOLY BIBLE.

From the Southern Quarterly Review for October.

We hail the appearance of this work as an auspicious event in the history of Biblical Literature. It is an excellent work,—excellent in style, rich in material, elegant in exterior, and not only correct, but exceedingly fascinating in its contents. We have read it—almost every one must read it,—with a deep and kindling interest, equal to that inspired by high-wrought works of fiction. It is not intended solely for scholars—a select few—but for whole masses. It addresses itself to the great heart of humanity; and its touching records of past events,—events of the deepest importance,—find a thrilling response in the breasts of all classes of men, high and low, rich and poor, learned and illiterate, young and old. We cannot praise it as we do works which we admire simply for their profound learning, and high literary excellence. Of these claims to an enduring popularity, it is not, however, destitute. The most fastidious taste of the most captious critic, can find nothing in its pages at which to cavil. We have been surprised to find, in so voluminous a work, such uniform parity, beauty, simplicity, and almost perfection of style, running throughout the whole, and imparting grace and attraction to every narrative. The highest recommendation of this noble work, however, remains to be mentioned,—its moral attractions,—its power to engage the affections of the heart, which are made to cling to the book as to a dear friend. The feelings with which we take it up, are a mixture of love and reverence. If men are not made pious by reading a work and reverence. If men are not made pious by reading a work heart, which are made to cling to the book as to a dear friend. The feelings with which we take it up, are a mixture of love and reverence. If men are not made pious by reading a work of such pure and elevated tendency, they are taught at least to respect Religion and Virtue, as illustrated in the lives of the Patriarchs, the Prophets, the Apostles, and the Divine Founder of the Christian Faith. They may see and feel the invariable and salutary consequences which flow from obedience to the Divine Laws, as exemplified in the history of individuals and Nations, through the lapse of many centuries. We are satisfied that the perusal and study of this attractive and well-timed work, will do more to confirm the doubtful and wavering in the truth of Divine Revelation, than all the learned defences of it by Christian writers in their controversies with Infidels since the introduction of Christianity. Its pictorial illustrations throw additional light upon the Scripture histories, impart peculiar interest to the work in many respects, and trations throw additional light upon the Scripture histories, impart peculiar interest to the work in many respects, and are neat and beautiful specimens of the art of American engraving. The cheapness of the work, (it being furnished at the low price of $3.) connected with its intrinsic value, recommends it to persons in moderate circumstances; and the splendor of its exterior, and its numerous embellishments, render it a suitable ornament for the centre-tables of the wealthy. It is of more real value, even in a literary point of view, than many wholk Libraries and a heautiful and exceptingly interesting whole Libraries, and a beautiful and exceedingly interesting

SEARS'S BIBLE BIOGRAPHY.

From the New-York Poughkeepsie Telegraph.

Among the multitude of Books, as various in their character, as in their external appearance, which constantly issue from the press, it is pleasant to point to one of real value, and know that we are calling public attention to a work not only unexceptionable in its letter and spirit, but salutary in its tendency and influence. Such is the book to which we would now direct the attention of our readers, and especially Christian parents and guardians who are solicitous for the moral now direct the attention of our readers, and especially Christian parents and guardians who are solicitous for the moral welfare of their children and wards. This work contains a series of biographical sketches of the most distinguished men mentioned in the Sciiptures, from Adam to John the Baptiat, with a sketch of the human life of the Redeemer, and dissertations on the fulfilled prophecies, and other matters highly interesting to the Christian: the whole illustrated by about five hundred engravings, many of them beautifully executed It is handsomely bound in cleth and gilt, and sold at the low price of $2.50.

SEARS' WONDERS OF THE WORLD,

The Nature, Art, and Mind.

This is decidedly one of the most beautiful and interesting olumes, for Young Proper especially, ever issued from the timerican Press. We should like to give our readers a few American Press. We should like to give our readers a few extracts from it, with one or two of the numerous pictorial embellishments with which it is adorned; but we found we We will therefore recommend all who are in want of a work of permanent interest and value—one that will live and prove useful in the family circle, when the ephemeral trash of the day has passed away and is forgotten—to purchase these "Wonders." One of the Reviewers of this work, in a late New-York Paper, appropriately remarks: "The Ancienta boasted of their SEVEN WONDERS, but Mr. Sears's new and invaluable work will prove, that we Moderns, can boast of our THOUSAND WONDERS."

Lach of the above works is beautifully printed and illustrated, and put up in richly ornamented bindings, highly adapting them as splendid presents for young people.

The undersigned having made arrangements with the Post-Office Department, are now prepared to forward Newspapers, Magazines and Famphlets by Mail over the following Mail Routes, viz:

From New-York to Buffalo and back, via Albany, Troy, Utica, Rochester, Syracuse to Buffalo, and all intermediate points on the Mail Routes West.

Also from New-York to Boston, via Hartford, Springfield, Worcester and Boston, and all intermediate places on this Route.

Notice is hereby given that the Bags will be made up on and Notice is hereby given that the Bags will be made up on and after this date for the above places. All matter to be sent must be pre-paid. The number sent must be marked on the package. No correspondence will be sent other than that relating to the package. It must be understood that no letter or private correspondence will be received for the Publishers' Mail, and should any one conceal the same in their newspapers or magazines, they will be dealt with according to the laws of the Post Office Department.

This arrangement will be of great advantage to Publishers, their Agents, and the community generally, as it enables Publishers to forward their works in small or large quantities to remote towns, and at a very low rate, to enable venders in the emote towns, and at a very low rate, to enable venders in the nost remote places to sell at the New York prices. New-York City, Dec. 11th, 1843. BURGESS, STRINGER & CO., 222 Broadway.
